Tennis Family

Notes:

I believe that that is Elsie Hannett on the left of the group. Note the brooch she is wearing at her collar, it appears to be the same as that on the beach picture with her mother also in 1914 (August).

I am guessing that this is a family group which would make the chap Elsie's surviving brother Albert he does look like "your little boy" in the July photograph "Cooling off". The girls could be Nelly(30 , Kate(36) and Beatrice(38) although of course they may just be friends. Annie would be 40 in 1914 and living on Fosse Road South in Leicester. Florence would be 41.

I've no idea as to the identity of the shaggy lurcher in the foreground.

It baffles me that Elsie has taken her tennis shoes off and appears to be wearing high heels for the photograph.

The location is noted on the back as Elm Avenue Tennis Courts. There are tennis courts at Elm Avenue in Keyworth today although the present club was only formed in 1965. Pictures of the courts now have a similar embankment and steps. I can find no reference to the courts earlier than 1965 at present however.

Provenance:

The photographs are from Elsie's collection passed onto me by my Father Fredrick Wesley Fulford, son of Elsie.
