Blackbird & Begonia

Notes:

I have been trying to make the rear garden more attractive to wildlife this summer, especially bird life. I would like to see finches and tits in the garden but as yet it's mainly pigeons, one blackbird and a maggie or two. Them and the squirrels.

This bird's got me perplexed. She turns up around the same time as a male blackbird and I think she is the female but the black beak puzzles me. I have read that continental migrants may have black beaks so she may be, I suppose, a foreigner.
